

Products & Services

If you are planning the deployment of IPDR for Subscriber Service Management applications or to support your DOCSIS 3.0 deployment Active Broadband Networks has the software, staff and experience to ensure your deployment will be success.

- Three Editions of the Active Resource Manager
- Applications providing Device Profiling, Quota Management, Planning and Subscriber Experience Management
- Professional Support and Deployment Services
- Training

- Software integration and customization services
- Professional services including system design, project planning and analysis services

We are experienced in both the deployment of large scale IPDR systems and the interpretation of the data generated by the CMTS. Using our understanding of DOCSIS systems we can help you leverage IPDR information and integrate the information collected with other sources of information to provide a more complete view system, subscriber, device and network usage.

Our networking knowledge and cable experience reaches beyond DOCSIS. We have deep experience in all aspects of Broadband and IP network in addition to video and voice service deployment and management.
